No consideration to trade should be made without thoroughly understanding and reviewing the risks involved in such Trading. If you are unsure, you must seek professional advice on the same.

in considering whether to trade or authorize someone to trade for you, you should be aware of or must get acquainted with the following:-

1. BASIC RISKS:

1.1 Risk of Higher Volatility:

Volatility refers to the dynamic changes in price that a security/derivatives contract undergoes when Trading activity continues on the Exchanges. Generally, higher the volatility of a security/derivatives contract, greater is its price swings. There may be normally greater volatility in thinly traded securities / derivatives contracts than in active securities /derivatives contracts. As a result of volatility, your order may only be partially executed or not executed at all, or the price at which your order got executed may be substantially different from the last traded price or change substantially thereafter, resulting in notional or real losses.

1.2 Risk of Lower Liquidity:

Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and/or sell securities / derivatives contracts expeditiously at a competitive price and with minimal price difference. Generally, it is assumed that more the numbers of orders available in a market, greater is the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity, it is easier for investors to buy and/or sell securities / derivatives contracts swiftly and with minimal price difference, and as a result, investors are more likely to pay or receive a competitive price for securities / derivatives contracts purchased or sold. There may be a risk of lower liquidity in some securities / derivatives contracts as compared to active securities / derivatives contracts. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or may be executed with relatively greater price difference or may not be executed at all.

- 1.2.1. Buying or selling securities / derivatives contracts as part of a day Trading strategy may also result into losses, because in such a situation, securities / derivatives contracts may have to be sold / purchased at low / high prices, compared to the expected price levels, so as not to have any open position or obligation to deliver or receive a security / derivatives contract.

1.3 Risk of Wider Spreads:

Spread refers to the difference in best buy price and best sell price. It represents the differential between the price of buying a security / derivatives contract and immediately selling it or vice versa. Lower liquidity and higher volatility may result in wider than normal spreads for less liquid or illiquid securities / derivatives contracts. This in turn will hamper better price formation.

1.4 Risk-reducing orders:

The placing of orders (e.g., “stop loss” orders, or “limit” orders) which are intended to limit losses to certain amounts may not be effective many a time because rapid movement in market conditions may make it impossible to execute such orders.

- 1.4.1 A “market” order will be executed promptly, subject to availability of orders on opposite side, without regard to price and that, while the customer may receive a prompt execution of a “market” order, the execution may be at available prices of outstanding orders, which satisfy the order quantity, on price time priority. It may be understood that these prices may be significantly different from the last traded price or the best price in that security / derivatives contract.
- 1.4.2 A “limit” order will be executed only at the “limit” price specified for the order or a better price. However, while the customer receives price protection, there is a possibility that the order may not be executed at all
- 1.4.3 A stop loss order is generally placed “away” from the current price of a Stock / derivatives contract, and such order gets activated if and when the security / derivatives contract reaches, or trades through, the stop price. Sell stop orders are entered ordinarily below the current price, and buy stop orders are entered ordinarily above the current price. When the security / derivatives contract reaches the pre-determined price, or trades through such price, the stop loss order converts to a market/limit order and is executed at the limit or better. There is no assurance therefore that the limit order will be executable since a security / derivatives contract might penetrate the pre-determined price, in which case, the risk of such order not getting executed arises, just as with a regular limit order

1.5 Risk of News Announcements:

News announcements that may impact the price of Stock / derivatives contract may occur during Trading, and when combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility, may suddenly cause an unexpected positive or negative

1.6 Risk of Rumors:

Rumors about companies/currencies/Commodity at times float in the market through word of mouth, newspapers, websites or news agencies, etc. The investors should be wary of and should desist from acting on rumors.

1.7 System Risk:

High volume Trading will frequently occur at the market opening and before market close. Such high volumes may also occur at any point in the day. These may cause delays in order execution or confirmation.

- 1.7.1 During periods of volatility, on account of market participants continuously modifying their order quantity or prices or placing fresh orders, there may be delays in order execution and its confirmations.
- 1.7.2 Under certain market conditions, it may be difficult or impossible to liquidate a position in the market at a reasonable price or at all, when there are no outstanding orders either on the buy side or the sell side, or if Trading is halted in a security/derivatives contract due to any action on account of unusual Trading activity or security/derivatives contract hitting circuit filters or for any other reason

1.8 System/Network Congestion:

Trading on Exchanges is in electronic mode, based on satellite/leased line based communications, combination of technologies and computer systems to place and route orders. Thus, there exists a possibility of communication failure or system problems or slow or delayed response from system or Trading halt, or any such other problem/glitch whereby not being able to establish access to the Trading system/network, which may be beyond control and may result in delay in processing or not processing buy or sell orders either in part or in full. You are cautioned to note that although these problems may be temporary in nature, but when you have outstanding open positions or unexecuted orders, these represent a risk because of your obligations to settle all executed transactions.

2. As far as Derivatives segments are concerned, please note and get yourself acquainted with the following additional features:-

2.1 Effect of “Leverage” or “Gearing”:

In the derivatives market, the amount of margin is small relative to the value of the derivatives contract so the transactions are ‘leveraged’ or ‘geared’. Derivatives Trading, which is conducted with a relatively small amount of margin, provides the possibility of great profit or loss in comparison with the margin amount. But transactions in derivatives carry a high degree of risk. You should therefore completely understand the following statements before actually Trading in derivatives and also trade with caution while taking into account one’s circumstances, financial resources, etc. If the prices move against you, you may lose a part of or whole margin amount in a relatively short period of time. Moreover, the loss may exceed the original margin amount.

- A. Futures Trading involve daily settlement of all positions. Every day the open positions are marked to market based on the closing level of the index / derivatives contract. If the contract has moved against you, you will be required to deposit the amount of loss (notional) resulting from such movement. This amount will have to be paid within a stipulated time frame, generally before commencement of Trading on next day.
- B. If you fail to deposit the additional amount by the deadline or if an outstanding debt occurs in your account, the Stock broker may liquidate a part of or the whole position or substitute securities. In this case, you will be liable for any losses incurred due to such close-outs.
- C. Under certain market conditions, an investor may find it difficult or impossible to execute transactions. For example, this situation can occur due to factors such as illiquidity i.e. when there are insufficient bids or offers or suspension of Trading due to price limit or circuit breakers etc.
- D. In order to maintain market stability, the following steps may be adopted: changes in the margin rate, increases in the cash margin rate or others. These new measures may also be applied to the existing open interests. In such conditions, you will be required to put up additional margins or reduce your positions.
- E. You must ask your broker to provide the full details of derivatives contracts you plan to trade i.e. the contract specifications and the associated obligations.

2.2 Currency specific risks:

1. The profit or loss in transactions in Foreign currency-denominated contracts, whether they are traded in your own or another jurisdiction, will be affected by fluctuations in currency rates where there is a need to convert from the currency denomination of the contract to another currency.
2. Under certain market conditions, you may find it difficult or impossible to liquidate a position. This can occur, for example when a currency is deregulated or fixed Trading bands are widened.
3. Currency prices are highly volatile. Price movements for currencies are influenced by, among other things: changing supply-demand relationships; trade, fiscal, monetary, Exchange control programs and policies of governments; Foreign political and economic events and policies; changes in National and interNational interest rates and inflation; currency devaluation; and sentiment of the market place. None of these factors can be controlled by any individual advisor and no assurance can be given that an advisor’s advice will result in profitable trades for a participating customer or that a customer will not incur losses from such events.

2.3 Risk of Option holders:

1. An option holder runs the risk of losing the entire amount paid for the option in a relatively short period of time. This risk reflects the nature of an option as a wasting asset which becomes worthless when it expires. An option holder who neither sells his option in the secondary market nor exercises it prior to its expiration will necessarily lose his entire investment in the option. If the price of the underlying does not change in the anticipated direction before the option expires, to an extent sufficient to cover the cost of the option, the investor may lose all or a significant part of his investment in the option.
2. The Exchanges may impose exercise restrictions and have absolute authority to restrict the exercise of options at certain times in specified circumstances

2.4 Risks of Option Writers:

1. If the price movement of the underlying is not in the anticipated direction, the option writer runs the risks of losing substantial amount.
2. The risk of being an option writer may be reduced by the purchase of other options on the same underlying interest and thereby assuming a spread position or by acquiring other types of hedging positions in the options markets or other markets. However, even where the writer has assumed a spread or other hedging position, the risks may still be significant. A spread position is not necessarily less risky than a simple ‘long’ or ‘short’ position.
3. Transactions that involve buying and writing multiple options in combination, or buying or writing options in combination with buying or selling short the underlying interests, present additional risks to investors. Combination transactions, such as option spreads, are more complex than buying or writing a single option. And it should be further noted that, as in any area of investing, a complexity not well understood is, in itself, a risk factor. While thesis not to suggest that combination strategies should not be considered, it is advisable, as is the case with all investments in options, to consult with someone who is experienced and knowledgeable with respect to the risks and potential rewards of combination transactions under various market circumstances.

3. Trading THROUGH WIRELESS TECHNOLOGY/ SMART ORDER ROUTING OR ANY OTHER TECHNOLOGY: Any additional provisions defining the features, risks, responsibilities, obligations and liabilities associated with securities/Commodity Trading through wireless technology/ smart order routing or any other technology should be brought to the notice of the Client by the Stock broker/Member

I. Money Laundering

1. What is money laundering?

Money laundering is the process of moving illegally acquired cash through financial systems so that it appears to be legally acquired. Money laundering has recently gained urgency of attention due to its links with terrorist activities. In 2000, black money was estimated to account for more than 40% of India's GDP (approximately $150 billion). According to Swiss Banking Association Report, 2006 an amount 13 times larger than India's Foreign debt i.e. USD 1500 billion has been alleged to have been laundered by Indians, in Swiss Banks.

2. How does money laundering affect business?

The integrity of the banking and financial services market place, depends heavily on the perception that it functions within a framework of high legal, professional and ethical standards. A reputation for integrity is the one of the most valuable assets of a financial institution. If funds from criminal activity can be easily processed through a particular institution - either because its employees or directors have been bribed or because the institution turns a blind eye to the criminal nature of such funds - the institution could be drawn into active complicity with criminals and become part of the criminal network itself. Evidence of such complicity will have a damaging effect on the attitudes of other financial intermediaries and of regulatory authorities, as well as ordinary customers. As for the potential negative macroeconomic consequences of unchecked money laundering, one can cite inexplicable changes in money demand, prudential risks to bank soundness, contamination effects on legal financial transactions, and increased volatility of international capital flows and Exchange rates due to unanticipated cross-border asset transfers. Also, as it rewards corruption and crime, successful money laundering damages the integrity of the entire society and undermines democracy and the rule of the law.

3. What is the connection with society at large?

The possible social and political costs of money laundering, if left unchecked or dealt with ineffectively, are serious. Organised crime can infiltrate financial institutions, acquire control of large sectors of the economy through investment, or offer bribes to public officials and indeed governments. The economic and political influence of criminal organisations can weaken the social fabric, collective ethical standards, and ultimately the democratic institutions of society. In countries transitioning to democratic systems, this criminal influence can undermine the transition. Most fundamentally, money laundering is inextricably linked to the underlying criminal activity that generated it. Laundering enables criminal activity to continue.

II. Laws in India related to Anti money laundering

There is an Act called Prevention of Money Laundering Act 2002 (PMLA). The purpose of this act is to prevent the financing of terrorism and to prevent laundering of money i.e. to legalize or officialize or canalize the money generated from illegal activities like drug trafficking, organized crimes, hawala rackets and other serious crimes. This act is a part of the Global measures being taken by all the countries under the initiatives of UN agencies. It is applicable to all SEBI Registered Brokers/Sub-Brokers and other financial institutions who are dealing in any kind of financial assets. It is an obligation of the entities to whom this Act is applicable, to report certain kind of transactions routed through them to FINANCIAL INTELLIGENCE UNIT, a department specially set up to administer this Act under the Ministry of Finance. The transactions which are supposed to be reported are cash transactions above rupees ten lakhs or series of cash transactions below ten lakhs but aggregating to above ten lakhs in a month or its equivalent in any Foreign currency and the transactions which may not be in cash but suspicious in nature. Any such types of transaction, though not executed but attempted and failed are also required to be reported.

SEBI has issued master circular no. ISD/AMUCIR-1/2010 dated February 12, 2010. Please go through the same for more details.

III. Client obligation related to Anti money laundering

1. What has this got to do with opening Trading/ Demat Account?

The first step in the laundering process for criminals is to get their money into an account with a Bank/Financial intermediary, often using a false identity and address. The funds so deposited will be transferred to other accounts locally or abroad or used for buying goods or services. This transaction would appear to be like any legally earned money and becomes difficult to trace it back to its criminal past. SEBI registered Intermediary under law should not only prevent this, but should stop criminals who wish to use the banking/Financial channel to launder the ill-gotten money from illegal/ criminal activities.

2. Why does the Capstocks ask you for proof of your Identity, Signature and Address? The identification of a customer is a very critical process with a view to protect the customer interests by preventing from fraudsters who may use the Name, address and forge signature to undertake benami / illegal business activities. This also helps to safeGuardian the intermediaries from being unwittingly used from the transfer or deposit of funds derived from criminal activity or for financing of terrorism. Identification of customers will also help to control financial frauds, identify money laundering and suspicious activities. The Prevention of Money-Laundering Act, 2002 (PMLA) was notified on July 1, 2005. As per the provisions of PMLAAct and as per the circular issued by Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) on 18th January 2006 and subsequent circulars issued in this regard, every market intermediary registered with SEBI is obligated to adopt a policy framework with respect to anti-money laundering measures. Capstocks is inter alia a Stock broker, Depository Participant and a portfolio manager registered with SEBI and needs to adhere to the same.
3. How could money laundering affect you as a customer? A key defence against money laundering is to prevent accounts being opened in false identities. Anyone wishing to open an account will therefore be asked for proof of their identity, address and signature. These documents have to be essentially obtained irrespective of the type of account to be opened and the purpose for which the account is opened for. The fact that these documents are asked for opening of account does not mean that you are suspected of money laundering. Criminals try to appear to be normal law-abiding customers, for example they may try to open a number of accounts using small amounts of money. Hence it is necessary to identify all prospective account holders or customers. Anybody including a criminal could falsely use your identity, if these identity documents are not obtained.
4. What proof of identity will you need? The best identification documents are those which are issued by a Government authority, which should have a photograph, address and signature. You may provide one single document which can establish your identity, address and the signature or two or more documents. For an individual, documents like copy of the Passport, Election Identity Card, Driving Licence, Permanent Account Number (PAN) card, etc. would be sufficient for the purpose of establishing the identity, address and signature. Similarly, for other entities like firms, companies, trusts, documents like - Deed, Memorandum & Articles of Association, Certificate of Incorporation etc. would be applicable and the branch / sales staff / call centre would be able to help you in providing the details of the list of approved documents. As per SEBI regulations, Capstocks is under obligation to obtain sufficient information in order to identify persons who beneficially own or control securities account. The beneficial Owner is the natural person or persons who ultimately own, control or influence a Client and/or persons on whose behalf a transaction is being conducted. It also incorporates those persons who exercise ultimate effective control over a legal person or arrangement.
5. What if you cannot provide the documents suggested?
If you cannot provide the basic KYC documents the company will not be in a position to open your account.
6. What are the responsibilities of a Client related to money laundering?
Capstocks has to conduct ongoing due diligence and scrutiny, i.e. perform ongoing scrutiny of the transactions and account throughout the course of the business relationship to ensure that the transactions being conducted are consistent with the registered intermediary's knowledge of the customer, its business and risk profile, taking into account, where necessary, the customer's source of funds. Clients should provide Capstocks with updated details of their occupation, source of income and give details of their annual income and net worth on annual basis. Further, they should provide explanation for any Trading pattern observed by Capstocks in its routine course .
7. Help us to help you Please help us to prevent crime, tax evasion and the laundering of the proceeds of such crime or evasion by being patient when staff asks you to provide documents to prove your identity. You can also help prevent crime against yourself and others by maintaining the confidentiality of your account details and identity documentation.
